MOUNT AUBURN

YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE.

LOCATION.

Upon the summit of Mount Auburn, a beautiful suburb of Cincinnati, elevated nearly five hundred feet, and thus away from the evils of a crowded city, although within its corporate limits, and always surrounded with a pure, healthful atmosphere.

It is a peculiarly desirable situation for merchants or others whose business often calls them to the city, to place their daughters, as they can visit the school by a ride of only thirty minutes, by omnibuses which leave Fourth Street every half hour.

BUILDINGS.

The edifices have all been erected for the purpose for which they are used, and are in every respect as well adapted to the object of Education as skill and expense can make them.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS TRAINING.

Anxious solicitude is felt that the members of the school should become truly pious. Reading the Scriptures, Singing and Prayer, with brief lectures on the Holy Scriptures, form a part of the daily exercises.

Each resident pupil is required to attend public worship once every Sabbath, and Bible Class Instruction. Visiting upon the Sabbath is deprecated, and it is hoped that parents and relatives, as far as possible, will avail themselves of other days to call upon the pupils. Friday afternoons and Saturdays are preferable for the reception of visits, as causing less interruption to study.

There are two Churches in the vicinity of the Institute, in which pupils, under the care of attending teachers, are accommodated with comfortable sittings. Conveyance will be afforded to those who, by request of parents or guardians, prefer attending Church in the city.

By an arrangement entered into by the proprietors of the CINCINNATI FEMALE SEMINARY and the MOUNT AUBURN YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE, the former was transferred to Mount Auburn, and the two schools consolidated into one in September, 1861. The following are the

The above-named young ladies have constituted a department not previously contemplated, and have devoted the whole or part of the year to the study of French, German, Painting, Music on the Piano and Guitar, Ornamental Wax Work, and a course of Reading in English Literature.

We desire to call the attention of young ladies, graduates and others, who have completed their course of ordinary studies, to this feature of this Institute, as furnishing a rare opportunity for acquiring a knowledge of the above accomplishments.

The rules and discipline of the school will be enforced only so far as to secure progress and good behavior.

NOTE.—During the course, Lectures will be delivered on Physiology, Mythology, and Philology.

During the entire Classical course, special attention will be paid to Reading, Writing, Composition, and the study of the Bible, its history, etc.

If only an English course is contemplated, advanced progress will be required in English studies in place of ancient and modern languages.

To enter the Classical Department, it will be requisite that the pupil undergo a faithful examination in the Academical studies.

A standing in the second, third, or fourth year of the Classical Department, may be obtained on passing acceptably a thorough examination in the studies assigned to previous years.

To be entitled to a Diploma, it will be necessary to pursue the entire course; or that of the fourth year, after having passed examination for the years that may be omitted.

When a pupil shall have passed, acceptably, any portion of the course, a certificate, when required, will be given to that effect, and an arrangement of studies will be made, in all cases where it is requisite, according to the age and ability of pupils, and the length of time designed.

EXPENSES PER SESSION, (Paid in Advance).

A deduction of $25 per session will be made from the above price for Board, when the pupil leaves Friday evening and returns Monday morning, and $10 for Day Scholars who furnish their own conveyance to and from the school.

The above prices are believed to be as low as it is possible to make them and sustain the school upon the basis on which it has thus far been conducted. Should any change occur in the finances of the country, producing a decline in the cost of materials consumed, we shall most happily reduce our charges accordingly.

No reduction will be made for the occasional absence of pupils, except in the case of protracted sickness, when one-half of the charge for board and tuition will be deducted, in proportion to the time of absence.

SESSIONS AND VACATIONS.

The next Fall Session will commence September 13, and end on the last Friday in January (with a short recess at Christmas).

The Spring Session will commence on the following Monday, and end the third Thursday in June.

There is consequently a vacation of upward of two months during the heat of the summer, and a recess of ten days during the winter holidays.

ADMITTANCE.

Each pupil will be carefully examined on her admission, and assigned to that Department to which she may be entitled by her attainments.

All bills for Board, Tuition, etc., must be settled before a pupil can be admitted to her class.

Each pupil is expected to be provided with six towels, a napkin-ring, and a silver fork and spoon, suitably marked. Also, an umbrella and overshoes. The clothes of the pupils are also required to be carefully marked.

NOTICE.

Pupils destined for the Institute, on arriving at either of the railroad depots of Cincinnati, may take an omnibus in waiting, and may be set down at the Mount Auburn Omnibus Station, at the corner of Main and Fourth Streets, and thence conveyed to the Seminary; or, if preferred, and information be previously sent to the President, they will be met at the depot.

Letters applying for admission, may be addressed to H. Thane Miller, President, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Remittances should be addressed to I. H. White, Treasurer, 25 West Fourth Street, Cincinnati.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Notwithstanding the distracted state of the country, the attendance in all the Departments has been larger than in any previous year. Under the divine blessing, this is attributable to the fact that all the appointments of the Institution are such as are demanded to afford the most complete success.

The corps of Instructors consists of five male and nine female teachers. The Seminary is provided with a library, to which continual additions are being made, and ample apparatus for illustrating every branch of study pursued.

Pupils in the Institution have unusual advantage for acquiring a superior Musical Education, and the modern languages are taught by accomplished Professors.

Believing the true sphere of woman is elsewhere than in the public forum or hall of legislation, all public exhibitions are discarded; but the most thorough examinations are held several times during each session, to which the friends of the pupils are invited. Thoroughness, and not outside show, will at all times be required in order to advancement in any grade.
